

About Us

Connection Enterprises Inc., a women owned Electronic Contract Manufacturing Company, has been delivering excellent service to all its customers since 1992. The expertise required to build these products is based on AS9100 and J-STD-001 certifications, which are taking CEI one step closer to manufacturing excellence. We are proud to offer these processes as documented evidence of what has always been our commitment. CEI's professional staff makes sure that every customer is completely confident with our processes by matching every product to the exact specifications; we actually become an integral part of our customer's resources by providing the best possible engineering practices and the most accurate cost reduction recommendations. Our highly trained staff is continually injecting quality into every step of our process making our customers confident of the services we provide. Our manufacturing processes are carefully controlled and provide our customers with the option to monitor their activities throughout the build cycle. We, at CEI, work in a spirit of cooperative understanding derived from an efficient, well documented and effectively controlled manufacturing process.

Mission Statement

Who is CEI? We are a company that has a total commitment to the highest ethical standards, by treating everyone with honesty, fairness and respect, and by conducting our business with the highest level of integrity. These are CEI core values, the foundation on which our business culture is based.

We are committed to achieving service levels that exceed our clients requirements and expectations by providing products and services that enable them to succeed in their businesses. We define service broadly, from initial contact with a prospect, to product quality, to anticipating client needs and preferences, to overall client satisfaction. We are committed to investing in state-of-the-art technologies to develop, deliver and support our services, and advance our CEI vision.
