MEDICAL STRAPS

The medical industry is constantly growing and changing, and has quickly become an expanding part of our business. Toleeto Fasteners builds a wide variety of straps with medical applications such as trachea and fetal monitors, ambulance gurneys, orthopedics and cable tube management. Our products help keep things neat and secure, as well as easily identifiable.

We have access to many different materials including stretchable Velcro® and foam laminates, as well as molded plastic parts.

We have clicking press die cut machines to cut out unique and complex shapes from hook & loop, neoprene and many other materials. We can also incorporate custom molded parts provided by the customer.

If you are part of this fast growing medical industry, let us work with you to create or improve your product.
